DILATORY TARIFF TACTICS.

The Mills Bill Debate Resumed Under the Five-Minute Rule.

Mr. Blair presented to the Senate to-day petitions containing 7,000 names of people all over the country, asking for the enactment of prohibition in the District. The conference reports on the bills in corporating the Eckington and Soldiers' Home Railway Company and the Rock Creek Railway Company were adopted. Upon motion of Mr. Faulkner, the special order for the consideration of the District railroad bills was postponed Intil June 20.

A faverable report was made on a substitute to the bill authorizing Wm. Mc-Garrahan to carry his claim before the Court of Claims.

A favorable report was submitted on the Postal Telegraph bill.

Mr. Gorman introduced a bill to incorporate the Underground Cable and Conduit Company jof the District. The bill names T. B. Forguson, James Sloan. Howard Munnikhuysen and R. R. Zeli of Baitimore; Henry A. Dodge, John A. Baker, Washington, and C. S. Carter of Virginia as incorporators. The capital stock is $150,000, but may be increased to $500,000. The company is organized to construct conduits for the reception of telegraph and telephone wires, the same to be rented out.

The bill also provides that the company may lay wires for the conveying of electricity, and may charge toll for such conveyance over its wires. The company may lay cables in the Potomac River, Rock Creek or overhead when the Commissioners of the District deem it best. Authority is given to open any street or alley necessary to lay the conduits.

The Senate them took up the bill to quiet title of settlers on the Des Moines River lands in Iowa.

In the House to-day Mr. Spinola rose to a question of privilege, and had read at the Clerk's desk an article in the New York Tribine charging him with delaying the passage of the bill placing John C Fremont on the retired list. Mr. Spinols denied the imputation. He said the Re-publicans had practiced a fraud upon the procent and unsuspecting Tribuse reorter. The Democratic members of the mmittee had voted for the bill and the epublicans against it, and the Republi ans were responsible for the delay. The Legislative and Executive Appro riation bill was then taken up, and the different amendments were voted on in heir regular order.

When all had been considered, Mr. Randall arose and said there were forty-two salaries left blank which he desired to have filled by the adoption of the amendment which he would send to the Clerk's desk.

A Little Improvement in General Sheridan's Condition.

RESTS WITHOUT PAIN

The Gallant Soldier Recovery from His Relapse.

All day long yesterday, according to

Among the questions to come up the most important to Washington is the project to divide the diocese and set off the District of Columbia, with Montgomery County and the counties south of the District, in a separate diocese, to be known as the Diocese of Washington. The full plan of the churchmen who favor division includes the erection of a magnificent cathedral church, that in style and beauty of architecture will compare favorably with the public and private buildings of the Capital of the Nation. This project for the division of the discose has been discussed for some years, and even if it comes up in the convention this year, it is not likely that any action will be taken. There will probably be an effort made to have the convention of 1889 held in Washington, as for the past two years it has been held in Baltimore. he doctors, the steady improvement in eneral Sheridan's condition continued antil 5 o'clock last evening. About that time he was awakened from a quiet sleep by a harrassing cough which kept him awake and made hi restless and uneasy, and a bulletin was ssued at 8:45, signed by all four of the foctors, which said that the General' condition was not as favorable as when the preceding bulletin was issued. The conservativeness of the doctors made this mildly-worded bulletin very alarm-

Either as a cause or an effect of the cough there was another recurrence o the heart trouble. At 10 o'clock the cough there was another recurrence of the heart trouble. At 10 o'clock the patient's condition was perhaps as critical as at any time since his illness, except for the fact that perhaps the dectors experience was valuable to them in repelling this last attack.

There was a severe retching cough, and about that time occurred the sudden weakness of heart action. Digitalis was administered, and a jet of oxygen was allowed to escape in his face. To the fact that the use of these two powerful remedial agents had been stopped, and that they therefore had their full effect, the dectors probably owed their ability to tide him over this dangerous crisis. For two hours every one about the house was kept too busy to think of giving any information to the anxious inquirers outside, and not until 12-5 this morning was another bulletin issued. It was signed by all the doctors except C. B. Byrne, and said that at 10 o'clock General Sheridan was suddenly threatened with suffocation from pulmonary effusion, and for awhile was in imminent peril. The attack was mastered with difficulty.

In the early morning hours the General dropped asleep again, though his slumber was light and he wakened easily.

About 3 o'clock there was another severe attack of coughing, which continued some time. He gradually became quiet, and this morning s bulletin again breathes an encouraging tone.

Not until 5 o'clock this morning, how-A delegation of seventeen Cincinnati people arrived in the city this afternoon, and at 3:30 descended upon President Cleveland at the White House and invited him and Mrs. Cleveland to visit the Cincinnati Exposition in July.
